Overview

Help your students become safe, confident and work-ready. Learners will understand drug classifications, offences and penalties under the Misuse of Drugs Act 1975, recognise appropriate behaviours and protocols when dealing with someone who may be under the influence, and learn how organisations manage workers experiencing drug and alcohol related issues. They'll also explore the structure and function of the spine, identify common workplace risk factors for back injuries, and learn practical back care techniques and control measures that reduce injury risk.
Practical and interactive, this course builds skills students can take into part-time work, apprenticeships and future careers. Book your students in today.
